

Table 2Increase in numbers of part-time and full-time employees in security services, restaurants, retail and all sectors from 2010 to 2014

Sector	Increase in number of employees (number of persons) ⁽¹⁾
	Part-time ⁽²⁾	Full-time ⁽³⁾	All employees
Security services	- 100	7 000	7 000
Restaurants	6 700	6 800	13 500
Retail	3 500	19 800	23 300
All sectors	18 000	153 500	171 500

Notes:

- (1) Number of employees is rounded to the nearest hundred. Owing to rounding, there may be a slight discrepancy between the sum of individual items and the total. The figures do not include government employees, student interns, work experience students and live-in domestic workers not covered by Statutory Minimum Wage.
- (2) In accordance with the Annual Earnings and Hours Survey, an employee is regarded as working part-time if one of the following conditions is met:
- (i) the number of usual days of work per week is less than 5 (for a person with a fixed number of working days per week); or
 - (ii) the number of usual hours of work per working day is less than 6 (for a person with a fixed number of working days per week); or
 - (iii) the number of usual hours of work per week is less than 30 (for a person without a fixed number of working days per week).
- However, persons who usually work 24 hours per shift are excluded, regardless of the number of usual days of work per week.
- (3) An employee that cannot be classified as a part-time employee according to the definition in note (2) is regarded as working full-time.
