

Annex 2

Numbers of elderly persons who had utilised or withdrawn from single mode (day care) or mixed mode (day care and home care) services under the Pilot Scheme and the volume of usage from September 2013 to June 2015

	Utilisation of single mode services			Utilisation of mixed mode services			Total no. of elderly service recipients (Note 7)
	No. of elderly persons (Note 1)	Average no. of sessions of day care services utilised per week (Note 2)	No. of persons having withdrawn from the Pilot Scheme (Note 3)	No. of elderly persons (Note 4)	Average no. of sessions of day care services and home care services utilised per week (Note 5)	No. of persons having withdrawn from the Pilot Scheme (Note 6)
From September 2013 to June 2015	1 051	5.3 sessions of day care services	304	532	4 sessions of day care services and 2 hours of home care services	162	1 583

(Note 1): The total number of elderly persons who had utilised single mode services during the period, including those who were still participating in and those who had withdrawn from the Pilot Scheme.

(Note 2): The average number of sessions of day care services (not less than four hours in each session) utilised per person per week among all elderly persons who had utilised single mode services during the period.

(Note 3): The total number of elderly persons who had utilised single mode services during the period and had withdrawn from the Pilot Scheme.

(Note 4): The total number of elderly persons who had utilised mixed mode services during the period, including those who were still participating in and those who had withdrawn from the Pilot Scheme.

(Note 5): The average number of sessions of day care services (not less than four hours in each session) and average hours of home care services utilised per person per week among all elderly persons who had utilised mixed mode services during the period.

(Note 6): The total number of elderly persons who had utilised mixed mode services during the period and had withdrawn from the Pilot Scheme.

(Note 7): The total number of elderly persons who had utilised single or mixed mode services during the period, including those who were still participating in and those who had withdrawn from the Pilot Scheme.