Medal for Bravery (Bronze) (MBB)

Mr LEE Kwun-fat

Mr LEE, a Senior Police Constable, is awarded MBB in recognition of his great courage, professionalism and selflessness in a highly hazardous environment. Mr LEE displayed an act of gallantry in a marine rescue operation in Tsam Chuk Wan, Sai Kung on 16 September 2018 when Super Typhoon Mangkhut was at its closest to Hong Kong. The incident occurred at some 200 metres off Tsam Chuk Wan where a pleasure craft was sinking and four men on board had fallen into the sea and were struggling to stay afloat. The situation was desperate as it was raining very hard with waves of five to six metres high and the four men were exhausted. The sea was filled with debris as well as other vessels which had broken from their moorings and gone adrift. The sea was tricky with strong onshore gusts. Despite all these dangers, Mr LEE bravely took up the role as coxswain of the police launch which was tasked with the rescue attempt. With Mr LEE's excellent concentration power and navigation skills, all four victims were rescued successfully.

Mr WOO Kwan-kuen

Mr WOO, a Station Sergeant, is awarded MBB in recognition of his great courage, professionalism and selflessness in a highly hazardous environment. Mr WOO displayed an act of gallantry in a marine rescue operation in Tsam Chuk Wan, Sai Kung on 16 September 2018 when Super Typhoon Mangkhut was at its closest to Hong Kong. The incident occurred at some 200 metres off Tsam Chuk Wan where a pleasure craft was sinking and four men on board had fallen into the sea and were struggling to stay afloat. The situation was desperate as it was raining very hard with waves of five to six metres high and the four men were exhausted. The sea was filled with debris as well as other vessels which had broken from their moorings and gone adrift. The sea was tricky with strong onshore gusts. Despite all these dangers, Mr WOO, who was one of the officers-in-charge of the rescue team, led his team members on the slippery deck surface to haul the victims from the rocking sea at the risk of falling overboard. All four victims were successfully rescued.

Mr CHEUNG Man-ho

Mr CHEUNG, a Fireman, is awarded MBB in recognition of his great courage, professionalism and selflessness in a highly hazardous environment. Mr CHEUNG displayed an act of gallantry in a marine rescue operation to save two men who were stranded on a small boat drifting at sea near Tai Mong Tsai Road, Sai Kung when Hong Kong was battered by Super Typhoon Mangkhut on 16 September 2018. The operation was carried out in total darkness under adverse meteorological and maritime conditions. As the second diver of the rescue team, Mr CHEUNG followed the leading diver and swam out to the storm-tossed waters to save the victims. Each of the moves ahead could be an unforeseeable danger. The rescuers had to struggle through the roaring sea with damaged vessels, unknown submerged obstacles and abundant floating debris, and they were slammed by waves up to three metres high. To avoid strangling by the obstacles in water and enhance mobility, the divers adopted the “untethered rescue swimmer mode”. They swam out to the small boat without their Self-contained Underwater Breathing Apparatus, at extraordinary personal risk when carrying out the rescue. One of the victims, when being located, was suffering from hypothermia and the leading diver needed to take care of this victim on the boat. Mr CHEUNG towed the other victim ashore on his own before returning to the boat to rescue the remaining victim with the leading diver. Mr CHEUNG and the leading diver eventually rescued both victims successfully.

Mr CHEUNG Ka-wo

Mr CHEUNG, a Station Officer, is awarded MBB in recognition of his great courage, professionalism and selflessness in a highly hazardous environment. Mr CHEUNG displayed an act of gallantry in a marine rescue operation to save two men who were stranded on a small boat drifting at sea near Tai Mong Tsai Road, Sai Kung when Hong Kong was battered by Super Typhoon Mangkhut on 16 September 2018. The operation was carried out in total darkness under adverse meteorological and maritime conditions. The rescuers had to struggle through the roaring sea with damaged vessels, unknown submerged obstacles and abundant floating debris, and they were slammed by waves up to three metres high. To avoid strangling by the obstacles in water and enhance mobility, the divers adopted the “untethered rescue swimmer mode”. They swam out to the small boat without their Self-contained Underwater Breathing Apparatus, at extraordinary personal risk when carrying out the rescue. One of the victims, when being located, was suffering from hypothermia. Mr CHEUNG stood bravely in the upwind position to shield him from gusty wind and torrential rain. Mr CHEUNG and the other diver eventually rescued both victims successfully.

Mr KWOK Kar-wo

Mr KWOK, a Station Sergeant, is awarded MBB in recognition of his great courage, professionalism and selflessness in a highly hazardous environment. Mr KWOK displayed an act of gallantry in a marine rescue operation in Tsam Chuk Wan, Sai Kung on 16 September 2018 when Super Typhoon Mangkhut was at its closest to Hong Kong. The sea was filled with debris as well as other vessels which had broken from their moorings and gone adrift. The sea was tricky with strong onshore gusts. Despite all these dangers, Mr KWOK, who was the officer-in-charge of the quick response team and on the slippery deck surface at risk of falling overboard, led his team to take the three men swiftly to the cabin as soon as they were rescued, soothed them and provided them with first-aid treatment. Mr KWOK also helped haul one of the men from the sea up to the deck by a rope.

Mr CHUM Man-kit

Mr CHUM, a Senior Inspector of Police, is awarded MBB in recognition of his great courage, professionalism and selflessness in a highly hazardous environment. Mr CHUM displayed an act of gallantry in a marine rescue operation in Tsam Chuk Wan, Sai Kung on 16 September 2018 when Super Typhoon Mangkhut was at its closest to Hong Kong. The incident occurred at some 200 metres off Tsam Chuk Wan where a pleasure craft was sinking and four men on board had fallen into the sea and were struggling to stay afloat. The sea was filled with debris as well as other vessels which had broken from their moorings and gone adrift. The sea was tricky with strong onshore gusts. Despite all these dangers, Mr CHUM voluntarily made a courageous decision to lead and coordinate his team to make the rescue attempt. Under his exemplary leadership, all four victims were successfully rescued.

Mr CHENG Yui-kwok, Adam

Mr CHENG, a Station Sergeant, is awarded MBB in recognition of his great courage, professionalism and selflessness in a highly hazardous environment. Mr CHENG displayed an act of gallantry in a marine rescue operation in Tsam Chuk Wan, Sai Kung on 16 September 2018 when Super Typhoon Mangkhut was at its closest to Hong Kong.
